

Theodore M. Hoeller, Sr.
Business and Client Services Manager
Hoeller Law Firm

Theodore M. Hoeller, Sr.'s career in Chicago, Illinois; Dallas, Texas; and Bentonville, Arkansas has spanned over forty years in the fields of capital investment, transportation, real estate development, marketing, and entrepreneurial ventures. He has held senior positions with large corporations. In addition, as an entrepreneur, he has successfully developed many small and medium size companies. Ted has also acted as a consultant, owner's representative and CEO or COO for emerging companies in the semiconductor, chemical services and general aviation fields. He has served in leadership and volunteer positions with business, civic, charitable, fraternal, university, and religious groups. Ted has been appointed to various governmental boards in the areas of real estate appraisal, public transportation services, and airport management.

Ted has a B.A. degree from DePaul University in Chicago, Illinois and an Associate of Applied Science degree from Grayson County Community College in Denison, Texas. He has taught various courses pertaining to general business, enology & viticulture, real estate law, marketing and sales. Ted currently is the Board Chairman for the American Center for International Policy Studies (www.amcips.org).

Ted's diverse business background provides him with a businessman's perspective on complex legal issues which arise in large corporations, as well as the legal needs of startup companies and their growth into successful mid-sized firms. He understands the business need for timely and cost effective and accurate legal services. Ted works closely with Hoeller Law's network of top attorneys and clients to make sure that clients are receiving the legal services they require and that the billing practices are accurate. He is also dedicated to keeping the Hoeller Law Firm overhead low so the firm can pass these savings onto our clients, with the belief that our success is based upon our ability to help our clients become more successful.